Eileen Kane, Lawrence F. Salmen : Bridging Diversity: Participatory Learning for Responsive Development (Directions in Development) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Bridging Diversity: Participatory Learning for Responsive Development (Directions in Development):

Today, one of the central tenets of development is the necessity for learning about and building upon stakeholders and beneficiaries insights, needs, culture, social organization, resources and active participation. 'Bridging Diversity' clarifies the myriad approaches to social research being used in the World Bank today. The focus is on participatory research as presently practiced and as a potential for forms of research which are not now particularly participatory. It makes a number of recommendations to enhance the utility of social research in and outside of the Bank.
